The Mystery Begins

Lady Evelyn Hart has invited the village to see her restored Victorian glasshouse. Minutes before the doors open, the antique brass key to the mosaic cabinet disappears. Rain has slipped through a cracked pane, and something important may be at risk.

People in the glasshouse

Nora Bell — Archivist

Keeps the conservatory ledger tied with violet ribbon.

Clara Moss — Glass Artist

Repairs the mosaics using blue chalk and copper tools.

Elsie Finch — Head Gardener

Works among the herbs in green gloves scented with lavender.

James Reed — Tea Steward

Carries porcelain cups, white napkins, and a polished brass tray.

Who moved the key — and why?

Early theory

Room 1: The Orchid House

Morning light and a missing page

At nine o'clock, Lady Evelyn Hart unlocks the conservatory for its reopening. The brass key to the mosaic cabinet is gone. In the Orchid House, you find an empty hook and a clean rectangle in the dust where a book recently rested.

Next: solve the room's word search

One extra story word is hidden but not listed.
